During the month of May the United States post masters had to count the incoming and outgoing mail of their offices. The count of the Ironton office was as follows: Letters and post cards, 25,318; newspapers, 4,088; merchandise, 588; registered, 589; foreign, 6.

Our prolonged drouth in the valley terminated Sunday night with an inch of rain. It was only local, however, and a short distance south there was scarcely any rain at all. Saturday and Sunday were the hottest days, so far, of the summer, the mercury reaching the century mark both days.

A gay bunch of hay riders who were driving through the valley and vicinity last Wednesday came near, very near, getting into the meshes of the law. They stopped at a lonely milk house by the roadside and cut a few capers. The owner of the aforesaid milk house, however, learned who the offenders were and threatened the law. Next day, however, his anger had somewhat subsided, and after being appealed to agreed to let the matter drop—provided all damage was made good.

Dr. Pulliam made his home at No. 2232 University street, St. Louis. In recent years he had devoted himself to religious writing and was a contributor to a St. Louis afternoon newspaper. They will sail for Hamburg from Baltimore on June 7th, and will go from Hamburg to Berlin, a distance of 150 miles, by rail. Miss Lindsay possesses unusual musical gifts and her course of study in the conservatories of Berlin will equip her for interpretation of the higher phases of the musical art. —Piedmont Banner.

Sheriff Marshall last Wednesday took in custody a young man by the name of R. H. Hughes at the home of his parents on a farm near Graniteville. The young man about six months ago enlisted in the navy at San Francisco and two months ago deserted. The naval authorities at once got in communication with the sheriff who has been on the lookout ever since. He learned the first of the week that the young man had returned home and Wednesday night he quietly went to the home and got him. Hughes is a son of Harry Hughes, a well known granite worker who has long lived at Graniteville but is at present working in Wisconsin. Sheriff Marshall will leave with his prisoner to-day for Philadelphia, where he will deliver him to the naval authorities.

Decoration day has come and gone. The state legislature in making May 30th a holiday wished doubtless to give the descendants of those who wore the blue and gray a chance to pay a tribute of respect to worthy and patriotic ancestors. In some places the people are broad-minded and hold union services and the day passes with sweet memories. The day was observed at Ironton. The graves of the Union soldiers were decorated by old glory and under the inspiration of some one the graves of the soldiers of the Southland were draped by the Red Cross Ensign. Oh, charity, what nonsense is done in thy name! The party who could inspire such action, could gild refined gold and paint the lily. His face, no doubt, shines with the holyunction of a Peckemist and his skin exudes the spirit of the Nazarene. What pity there is only one day in the year for such a man to plume himself! X.

The Missouri Automobile Association has made application to the American Automobile Association for their three-day endurance run for the Arcadia Country Club trophy, for July 15, 16 and 17, and as soon as the sanction is received entry blanks and rules and regulations of the run will be mailed out to prospective entrants. A number of the residents of the districts through which the run will go have expressed their intention of having a part of the roads in their districts dragged and improved in any other way that they can and this assures the entrants that they will have but a few miles of bad going on the entire route of 400 miles. Arrangements are being made for a special train to run from this city to Arcadia to carry St. Louisans who do not care to ride in the cars with the contestants. A number of car owners of Southeast Missouri will take part in the run as non-contestants, and this will add greatly to making this the biggest run of the season. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

At the meeting of the Business Men's League last Thursday evening the business spirit was more than usually manifest. The principal question discussed and acted upon was that of roads. The subscription lists toward the building of the Shepherd Mountain drive and the automobile road to the St. Francois county line were encouraging. The amount necessary to the former has been nearly, if not quite subscribed, and the sum required for the automobile road is assured. A delegation was deputed to visit Farmington and confer with the League there, and see what might be expected from that end of the line. The delegates returned from their visit yesterday evening with the cheering news that the St. Francois county court had that day ordered an expenditure of $1,000 on the road on their side of the county line. Work from both ends, as well as on the Shepherd Mountain drive, will be begun promptly. The League also provided for the clearing of the Valley roads from loose stones, and the work is now being done. A Fourth-of-July Picnic and Home-Coming was projected and the usual committees appointed. For particulars, see the big bills soon to be issued. Yes, it was a business meeting all right, and sure to produce results. The League will meet again Thursday evening of this week.

The following in reference to Mrs. M. F. Winningham, nee Mary Patton, who was born and reared in Ironton is taken from the last issue of the West Plains Journal: "The West Plains public schools lost another excellent teacher when Mrs. Mary F. Winningham announced last week that she has accepted the position of dean of women in the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts located at Las Cruces, New Mexico. A short time ago the excellent position was tendered to Mrs. Winningham, and while she reluctantly consented, it was such an excellent place that she could not well refuse it. Mrs. Winningham has taught in the West Plains schools for a number of years. She has been principal of the High School and served as Superintendent. The pupils loved and respected her and the school board, upon being informed of her decision, regretted to lose Mrs. Winningham from the faculty of the school. As a teacher, Mrs. Winningham has no superior in this part of the state. She has worked her way gradually to the front until she has become one of Southern Missouri's leading instructors. Her removal to New Mexico is not only a loss to the city schools of West Plains, but a loss as well to the school interests of this part of the state. Mrs. Winningham's only daughter, Miss Bertha Winningham, has also accepted a position as principal of the public school at Las Cruces. Mrs. Carrie Phelps, a former teacher in the West Plains schools, is also an instructor in the university in which Mrs. Winningham will teach. Mrs. Winningham and daughter will leave soon to visit with relatives at different points in this state and after their return will leave for New Mexico in order to become domiciled in their new home at Las Cruces before the opening of the school year in September."

After a very successful term of nine months, our public school closed on the 26th ult. A most interesting feature in connection with the school just ended was the exercises of the graduating class of five held at the Methodist church on Friday evening. The building was tastefully and beautifully decorated with flowers and house plants, and brilliantly illuminated from the electric light plant of the progressive firm of Graves & Stamp. Promptly at 8 o'clock the class marched in and occupied positions on the rostrum to music discoursed by Mrs. R. I. Stamp, who on this as well as all similar occasions, gracefully maintained her enviable reputation when presiding at the organ or piano. The seating capacity of the church was wholly inadequate to accommodate all who sought admission. The gold medal offered by Mr. McKee at the beginning of the term to that member of the eighth grade attaining the highest average in deportment and scholarship was earned by and awarded to Marshall Williams. Superintendent Burnham honored us with his presence and in a few well chosen remarks delivered the diplomas. The programme rendered by the class finishing the course, with the exceptions of the welcome song, two recitations and a musical dialogue by pupils of the lower grades, was as follows:

Invocation—Rev. W. W. Strother. Chorus—Welcome, Iowa. Leah Wallis Florence Schmidt and Hazel McKee. Salutatory—Jesse Lovelace. Essay—A Smile, Miss Martha Kelly. Oration—Partisanship, Jesse Lovelace. Recitation—Leak in the Dike, Leah Wallis. Musical Dialogue—April Showers, Four boys and girls. Essay—Home, Miss Ruth Wallis. Recitation—How He Saved St. Michaels, Iola Howard. Essay—Stepping Stones, Miss Lottie Easter. Oration and Valedictory—Past and Present, Marshall Williams. Presentation Diplomas and Medal. Class Song—Farewell.

The community was neither surprised or disappointed at the perfect success of the graduating class under the instruction and training of their teacher, Mr. W. E. McKee. Too much cannot be said of him who labored so faithfully with the pupils of the Des Arc school for the past two years, and the community is satisfied, knowing that he will have charge of the school the coming year. We are assured of his ability and fitness as a teacher and also his talent in other lines of business and has the writer's wishes for his future success.

Preaching at the M. E. church Sunday, June 11th, by Rev. Walker.

As the weather is warm and news is scarce, I will bring my chat to a close and if this escapes the waste-basket, will come again. KIDO.

We are having a 1901 drouth; have not had a drop of rain for weeks.

I was talking to my friend, Jesse Hawkins, at Ironton Saturday. He said, "In 1901, a man had a little farm west of Ironton and failed to raise anything, and he gave the farm to a man if he would move him to Flat River. It took two teams and two days. Last fall the farm sold for $800." I also called at Lopez's store. They have a fine stock and it is the largest in this section of the state. They seemed to be doing a fine business. I sold them a bill of bacon from the house of Cox & Gordon. They sell the best meat that is on the market. Any merchant wanting this meat, I will be glad to furnish them.

An effective picture was presented at the Poplar Bluff Memorial services last Tuesday, when the Rev. Hilton, an Ex-Confederate veteran, stood before a small crowd of his former enemies in blue, and proclaimed his love for them yet would not deny his powerful love for his native southland. It was in the shade of two great trees in the city cemetery, that this scene was presented on the occasion of the decoration of the graves of the Blue and the Gray. Tears leaped to the eyes of many when Mr. Hilton concluded. J. T. Davidson, chief spokesman for the union soldiers, then stepped out and with moist eye and trembling voice gave vent to a beautiful sentiment of love and esteem as he gripped the southerner's withered hand and then the boys in blue, with wrinkled brow and white head, stepped forward and grasped the hand of the man they had once fought. It was a sad picture.

I omitted to say that while on my trip to Little Rock I failed to see my old friend, R. A. Clarkson. I met Jas. Clarkson, formerly of the Clarkson saw mill at Leeper. He is beginning to look old like myself. I was so enthusiastic in meeting my old comrades that I forgot I was an old man and an old reb. He said, "I shot 60 rounds in the battle of Gettysburg and never got a scratch, and I don't know if I killed a single man, and besides I don't want to know." Another comrade said, "That is more than I can say; look at my arm and leg left on the field and I was captured; but thank God I am here." Another patriotic scene was Stonewall Jackson's old servant that followed him through the war. He looked very old and tottery. There were three old battle flags all torn and shot up in the procession. They had been carried through all the battles of the war.

Mr. Carter, of Piedmont, was at Des Arc Saturday looking after the lead mines, machinery, etc.

Tom Howard, aged 72 years, died on his farm, near here, Friday.

Dr. Farrar and Uncle Bill Hackworth had a lawsuit last week. Uncle Bill got the worst of it, but says he will take it to the circuit court.

John Nation, our ball pitcher, is down with rheumatism.

The Republic stated last week that the section men would be paid $1.50 per day after June 1st, but the men have not been notified at this writing.

I met Geo. Gogel at Sabula last week. He is writing up the fishing and hunting news for the Ring. He will visit Gads Hill, Piedmont, Williamsville and the club houses on Black and St. Francis rivers. His article will be published June 18th. ISAAC.

Thousands of yards of lawns and prints at 5 cents a yard. LOPEZ STORE CO.

Thos. Hill, formerly of Iron county, wishes to inform the public that he is now running a livery and feed stable at Bismarck and will always be glad to serve them in any way he can.
